The University

Anglia Ruskin University is an innovative global university with students from 185 countries at our 4 campuses across the UK. These students are at the heart of our University, and we're delighted that our final-year undergraduates are positive about their educational experience. Our community is also incredibly important to us, and we're proud of the role we play in our cities and the wider region – including the positive effect on jobs and the local economy. We've been named one of the top 350 institutions in the world in the Times Higher Education World University Rankings 2023, for the sixth successive year – and one of the top 40 universities in the UK. We're also listed in the top 15% for social inclusion in The Times Good University Guide 2022.

Awarded Gold standard in the Teaching Excellence Framework in 2023, ARU has the ambition to continue to build on our success. We develop global logisticians and supply chain professionals of the future, and many our former students have successfully launched their careers in supply chain vocations.

Working within the School of Management you will enhance your understanding of supply chain operations, by joining the final year of our Supply Chain undergraduate programme, where ERP, Sustainability and Supply Chain Systems feature as key areas of learning.

You will find the BBV programme has given you an excellent grounding in supply chain and logistics themes, which will give you the underpinning and foundational knowledge and skills to complete the penultimate year of your undergraduate study.

Students who successfully complete the supply chain undergraduate programme at ARU, will have the opportunity to take their studies to the next level, by joining our well established and successful MSc Supply Chain Management programme.

During your time at ARU, you'll develop your employability skills, and have the opportunity to join one of our many employability workshops and one to one session to ensure you can position yourself successfully in the global job market on completion of your studies.

The Supply Chain Management teaching staff, look forward to meeting you on our PG Supply Chain programme, and helping you achieve your ambitions and career goals in the future.
